ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce LUCIAN J. HARRIS, as a candidate for sheriff, subject to the action of the Democrat primary in August.

We are authorized to announce
WILLIAM R. HOWELL, of Christian county, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the State Senate from the District composed of Christian and Hopkins counties. Subject to the August primary.

Charged with controlling 55 percent. of the news print paper production of the country and using their power in restraint of trade in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, six paper manufacturers and a banker prominent in financing news print paper companies were indicted by the Federal grand jury in New York.
Five of the manufacturers constitute the executive committee of the News Print Paper Manufacturers' Association, whose secretary, Geo. F. Steele, the indictment says, was not named as a defendant because he was a witness before the grand jury. The men indicted are George H. Mead, Philip T. Dodge, Edward Backus, George Chahoon, Jr., G. H. P. Gould, Frank J. Sensenbrenner and Alexander Smith, a Chicago banker. There is not a newspaper man in the country who does not want to see these and others responsible for their hold-up, put behind the bars. The evidence against them is said to be conclusive.

Miss Mary Lee Stewart, a member of the graduating class of a McCracken county high school, married one night and graduated the next. The diploma was issued to Mrs. Frank Gholson.

Miss Mary O'Reilly, of the Chicago Woman's Trade League, advocates the adoption of trousers by all working women. She says: "When the English women went to work at men's jobs, as we shall have to do, they began to wear trousers and now they don't take them off when they go home, but wear them on the streets."

The snowstorm in France last week came at a time when the British were whipping the Germans on a twenty-mile front. As it was they captured 13,000 prisoners and 166 guns besides vast quantities of material. The so-called Hindenburg line of trenches, was cut into seven miles. German prisoners were many of them quite willing to surrender and were suffering from hunger.

To Freshen Wicker.
When a wicker chair requires cleaning, dust it well and wash in tepid soapsuds. Mix together equal parts of turpentine and sweet oil and a few drops of methylated spirits. Wet the chair is quite dry rub with a cloth moistened with the polish.

Some Truths.
"Have you ever noticed," said the nervous young man, striving to make conversation at the tea table, "that—or—bachelors, as a rule, are—much richer than married men?"
"Yes," replied the masculine-looking man, wearing the colors of the students, "I have." "Ah! And—do you want to be it?" "Very simply.
Poor men marry and rich men die." Men are always ready to divide their time with a woman than something."

You Need A Spring Laxative Dr. King's New Life Pills will remove the accumulated waste of winter from your intestines, the burden of the blood. Get that sluggish spring fever feeling out of your system, brighten your eye, clear your complexion. Get that vim and snap of good purified healthy blood. Dr.
King's New Life Pills are a non-gripping laxative that aids nature's process, try them to-night. At all Druggists, 25c.—Advertisement.

Two Uses for Myths.

The Greek philosopher Aristotle said that myths were invented by legislators "to persuade the many and to be used in support of law." Modern scholars think it more likely that early lawmakers found these myths already prevalent and saw how they could be made an instrument for governing men. Such myths appear to be of two kinds: those which are used to lend weight to authority, and those which have been invented by the weak and oppressed to coax or frighten the strong into treating them more leniently.

Bad Colds From Sudden
Changes

Spring brings all kinds of weather and with it come colds and the revival of winter coughs and hoarseness. Dr. Bell's Pine-Tar-Honey will head off a new cold or stop the old one; the soothing balsams relieve the sore throat and heal the irritated tissue. Get a bottle to-day and start treatment at once. At your Druggists' 25c. Formula on the bottle.—

Pebble Industry.

The flint pebble industry gives occupation to many women and children along the French coast between Havre and Dieppe. The pebbles collected in and near Havre are selected for their spherical shape, and are used for pulverizing in certain industries, particularly in the manufacture of cement and in copper mines, being employed in the interior of large cylinders.

Sloan's Liniment For Rheumatism

The torture of rheumatism, the pains and aches that make life unbearable are relieved by Sloan's Liniment, a clean clear liquid that is easy to apply and more effective than musky plaster or ointments because it penetrates quickly without rubbing. For the many pains and aches following exposure, strains, sprains and muscles soreness, Sloan's Liniment is promptly effective. Always have a bottle handy for gout, lumbago, toothache, backache, stiff neck and all external pains. At Druggists, 25c.—Advertisement.]

By No Means.

Because a girl in your neighborhood is rubbing her hair fashionably is no reason you should question what is under her hair.—Exchange.

Spring Colds Are Dangerous

Sudden change of temperature and under yearlings spring colds with stuffed up head, sore throat and general cold symptoms. A dose of Dr. King's New Discovery is sure relief. This happy combination of antiseptic balsams clears the head, soothes the irritated membrane and what might have been a lingering cold is broken up. Don't stoop to treat when relief is at hand. A half cure cold is dangerous. Take Dr. King's New Discovery till your cold is gone.—Advertisement.

FREE FROM PAIN

And No Longer Nervous, Since Taking Cardui, Says Georgia Lady.

Trenton, Ga.—Mrs. Ellie Gifford, of this place, writes: "I have always suffered... but was worse after marriage.
I would have... pains and misery in my stomach and hips. I would have a bad sick headache every time, which would generally last two days. I had always heard what a good medicine Cardui was, so I thought I would try it. I used two bottles and it helped me.

Fifteen months later I began to be nervous and was worse at my... But at these times I did not have any pain and do not now suffer any pain. But I was very nervous, so nervous that my hands would shake. Any noise would make me jump. So I took two more bottles of Cardui. I have never been nervous since... and do not have any pain.
I think this is all due to Cardui and Black-Draught."

Cardui, the woman's tonic, is composed only of pure, vegetable ingredients, which have been recognized for many years by standard medical books as of medicinal value, in the treatment of many diseases peculiar to women. Try Cardui.

BENITA'S CHOICE

By JOSEPH SHAW.

Benita lingered most provokingly and deliberately on the road home.
There are times when home seems the very last desirable place in the world to go, and this was one of them. First of all, Grandmother Rollins had told her at least seven times that day to count her blessings one by one, and she'd be surprised to see what the Lord had done.

Then her mother had said:
"Benita, child, what does all you?
You are bewitched. You drop everything you touch, and you haven't a decent word for anybody in the family."

Why should she have? thought Benita haughtily. Weren't they all against her? Wasn't it bad enough to have a name tacked on like Benita Dusenberry, coupled with an artistic temperament, and then have a family without any of the finer instincts at all? Somehow she had never noticed the lack of these finer instincts until Jessica and her brother had come to stop awhile at the Three Pines.

Wallace, the tall, fair musician brother, was dreamy and aloof. He took long, solitary walks through the woods and roads, and came back to improvise marvelous airs on his violin.
Once Benita had met him, standing enraptured, gazing at something in his hand.

"Little girl," he had said, "can you tell me the name of this?"

"Adder's tongue," answered Benita.
She thought everybody knew what plain, everyday adder's tongue looked like. She told Len about it when he came up to help Tom with the wood-cutting. Len was twenty and nearly six feet tall. He looked fearfully hearty beside Wallace.

Len had laughed and said he looked "sort of peaked." Genius should look ethereal, Benita had thought. Then the climax came. Jessica told her that she, Benita, was the inspiration for Wallace's latest improvisation, "The Maid of the Pines."

"I hope he will be able to capture it and write it down. It has all the wailing of the wind in the pines in it, and the mystical yearnings of the unfledged soul," she explained.

After the dishes were finished Benita threw a cape around her and went out under the three tall pines in front of the house, to catch the "mystical yearning" herself. But Len came along from the barn, and stayed talking to her until her mother called her in. He reminded her that they were engaged.
Benita had put the thought from her for several weeks.

"I guess by Easter I'll have things settled so we can be married. Think your mother can spare you by then, Benita?"

"I don't know," Benita had said vaguely. "I think eighteen is plenty old enough to get married, and I won't be seventeen till next month."

Now had come this final day. Mrs.
Brewster, Len's mother, had sent for her to help with some quilting.

"You might as well, 'cause half of them are for you and Len," she said cheerfully. And all the afternoon Benita had quilted and listened to long accounts of this piece and that piece, and whose dresses they had come from back in the annals of Len's family. All the way up the hill road Benita told herself she would break her engagement to Len the next day, and find what Jessica called the path to higher happiness. And then over the edge of the woods, just where the eastern sky was darkening at nightfall she saw a rising column of smoke, followed by a spurt of yellow flame. It came from the house, she felt sure, as she broke into a quick, light run along the frozen road.

Then, just as she reached the gate she saw Wallace. He sat on the stone wall with his violin, quite like Nero.
Benita thought later, drawing sweet strains from his violin, and Jessica was beside him with three suit cases packed safely.

"Where is mother?" Benita exclaimed.
"Oh, the young man who cuts wood is fighting the fire in the kitchen," Jessica told her happily. "Isn't it an inspiring sight? Wallace has a theme already, 'Glowing Embers.' Do you like it, Benita?"

But Benita had fled around by the back way. Her mother was helping Tom draw buckets of water from the well and soaking blankets and old burlap sacks to pass up to Len on the "L" roof. Several times when the flames and smoke hid Len from sight, she found herself praying for the safety of her Len, brave and fearless.

It was nearly nine before the last smoldering was extinguished. The fire had been confined to the "L," thanks to Len, and he stood eyeing the result proudly, smoky and begrimed, his arms bare. Benita was beside him, Len glanced down at the slim figure beside him, and smiled, slipping one arm around Benita's waist.

"Hello, dear," he said. "We beat it, didn't we?"

"You were splendid," Benita answered, solemnly, "just splendid, Len.
The whole house would have gone if you had not fought the way you did.
I'm awfully proud of you."

"Even if I can't fiddle?" Len's blue eyes were twinkling. He had not been altogether blind to current events.
Benita snuggled closer to him with a little sigh of relief.

"I don't mind if—if it is at Easter Len," she whispered. "I don't like violin music, anyhow, not at fires."

MR. FARMER!

Don't Go It Blind!

You must know that all feeds are going to be extremely high this year—SAVE YOUR CROPS—put your silage in a TECK-TONIUS SILO, the Silo with the Spring Lugs.

DON'T BUY A SILO ON
"Take It for Granted Basis"

No other farm equipment serves as useful a purpose as the silo; yet no other equipment is so much bought on the "Take it for Granted" basis. It naturally results in inferior silo equipment being foisted upon the farmer, for which he pays exorbitant prices. Here is the way you can know—not take it for granted—you are getting the best in silo construction, and are paying for no more than you receive. Get posted on the

TECKTONIUS SILO
The World's Best Silo Construction

You'll then know for yourself what to expect and demand in the silo you buy, to insure the highest class construction—the most perfect service.

Tecktonius is in one Grand Class by Itself in all Tank and Silo Equipment Service. No others are comparable to it.

Without reflecting on your silo knowledge, we affirm, Mr. Farmer, that you cannot know—do not know—what a silo construction should be—can be and really is in the Tecktonius—until you know about and see the "Harder Patent Continuous Door Design"—the Tecktonius Self-Adjusting Silo Hoop and Door Fasteners, Silo "Hinge" Door and "Double Check" Anchor System—the really vital factors in all silos.

The Tecktonius Silo is assembled entirely on our yards and sold only by us in this territory. It is equipped complete with the Tecktonius Matchless Fixtures, giving you a silo that cannot be matched in any feature of its construction or service. We also can save you big money on its cost, for we do away with the dozen and one silo profits and extra freight charges you pay the silo manufacturer for inferior silos.

You would not think of buying a "Rake Off" Reaper after seeing the modern binder, would you?

Neither would you think of buying one of these "19th Century" silos after knowing about the "20th Century Tecktonius."

Don't even think of buying a silo until you get posted on the Tecktoni-us. It will put you "wise" to the shortcomings of the others. Send for

"Broadside" and Book on "Silo Facts"—Both Free—

telling you all about the "Tecktonius" and giving you valuable and instructive information on silos and silage, including a lot of things you should and want to know.

Both are free—Write for them today.

Tecktonius "Self-Adjusting" Silo Fastener automatically adjusts silo to all silage swelling and shrinking. Only one of Tecktonius Silo many exclusive features.

Owing to the fact that we purchased our silo stock before the tremendous advance in materials, we are prepared to name you a close figure on your silo. When the stock we have on hand is exhausted we will be forced to advance prices.
